

Hello from 'Musical Instinct at Play'

My name is Carol O' Callaghan, founder and Musical Director of 'Musical Instinct at Play'. Born and educated in Co Cork Ireland and from a family hugely immersed in Musical Prowess. My Father was a well known and famous successful Saxophonist travelling Ireland, the Middle East and America extensively with his Orchestra, while my Mother was a professional Dancer and danced on the 'London Palladium' many a time where in fact both my parents met!

I started learning the piano at the age of 12 and had accomplished all 8 grades and a Teachers Diploma by the age of 18 attaining a 'Distinction' in all grades, through the Royal Irish Academy of Music. I have been teaching piano and musical theory privately in Fleet for over 12 years and specialise in teaching children from Age 5 to 16 years of age.

I currently work for Surrey University in Guildford and am leaving at the end of June enabling me to concentrate on my passion.... working with children and helping them un-lock their musical ability and talent within. I am of the mindset that all children deserve the freedom to express themselves like children and not be forced to grow up too quickly! If you observe most children at play, you will notice they display innate artistic capabilities; however there are those who may have suppressed this ability because of shyness or lack of confidence. I have many success stories at being instrumental in helping lots of shy children and providing them with a platform to help their talent shine through.

The key to being successful working with children is being able to relate to them and an ability to walk in their shoes. See the world from their colourful perspective!

At Musical Instinct At Play -Music Focus Group on Saturday afternoons I hope to build upon my own musical instinct, enthusiasm and energetic drive and infectiously transmit this to the children in an innovative way through voice, dance and instrument playing working towards two performances annually.

This Music Focus Group begins on Saturday 2nd October at the Elvetham Heath Church 2.30 pm to 4.30 pm.
